What a night in Nashville! This year's 4th of July celebration was one for the record books, with approximately 365,000 people gathering downtown to join the festivities-shattering previous attendance numbers!

The city truly outdid itself, putting on one of the largest fireworks displays in the country. The grand finale was a breathtaking fireworks show, perfectly synchronized to a live performance by the Nashville Symphony, creating a magical experience for everyone along the riverfront and beyond.

But that wasn't all! The sky was alive with a dazzling drone show, lighting up the night to create displays and patriotic imagery that had everyone looking up in awe.

Country superstar Dierks Bentley headlined the night on the iconic Jack Daniel's stage, brining the house down with an unforgettable performance that had the whole city singing along.

With the entire event televised for those who couldn't make it downtown, Nashville once again proved why it's one of the best places in the nation to celebrate Independence Day. Can't wait to see how Music City tops this next year!
